

ENTERPRISE SUBSCRIPTIONS

The Washington Post

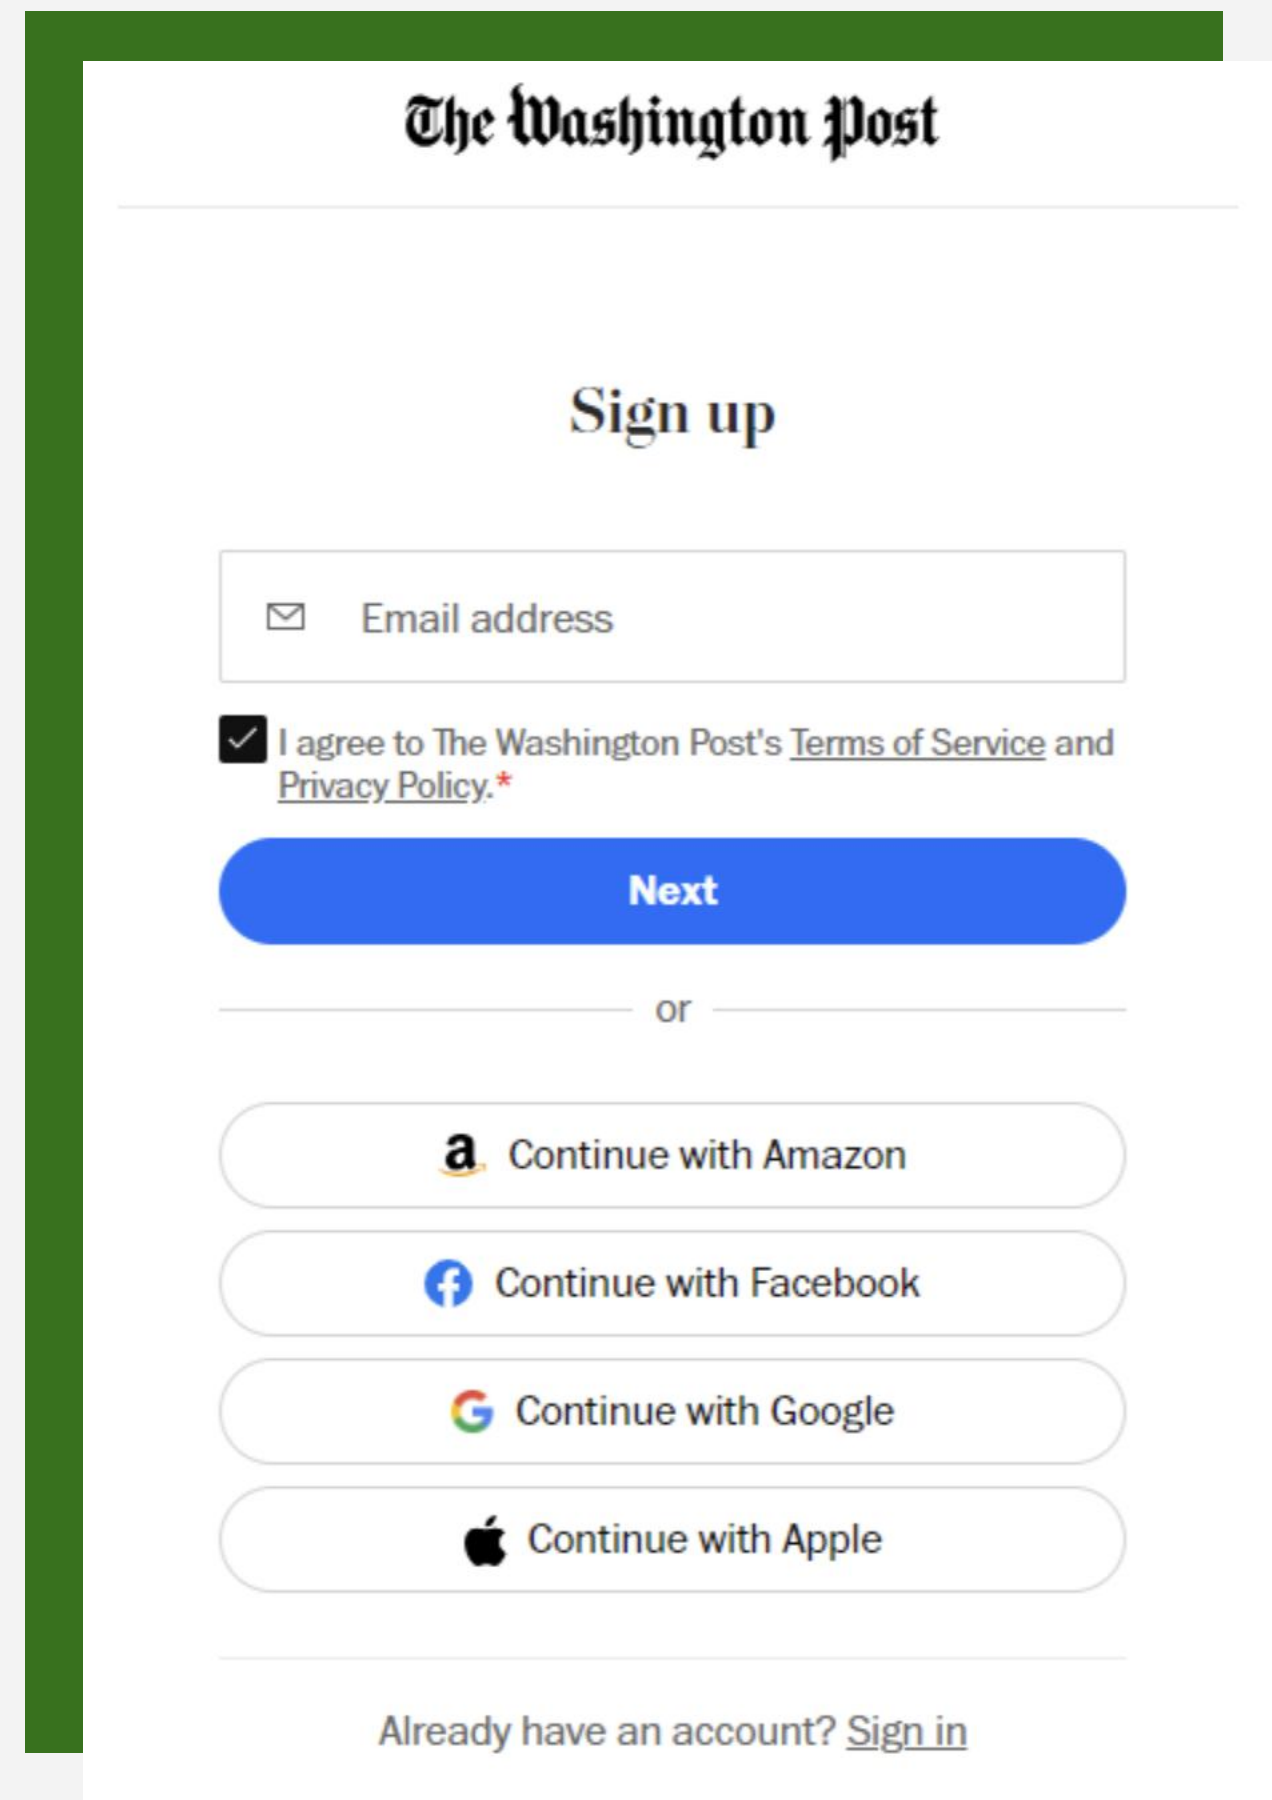

How to activate your Washington Post
Enterprise subscription

GOOD NEWS

You have unlimited access to The Washington Post's award-winning reporting through your organization.

Follow these steps to activate your subscription.

DOMAIN AUTHENTICATION ACTIVATION

The Washington Post

Sign up

✉ Email address

I agree to The Washington Post's Terms of Service and Privacy Policy.*

Next

or

 Continue with Amazon

 Continue with Facebook

 Continue with Google

 Continue with Apple

Already have an account? Sign in

If you have already registered for a Washington Post account with your organization email address, proceed to page 5.

If you don't already have a Washington Post account with your organization email address:

- Sign up for a Washington Post account with your organization email address.
- Choose a password and create an account.

DOMAIN AUTHENTICATION ACTIVATION

- Check your associated email for a verification link. Clicking on the link activates your subscription.

If you have already registered for a Washington Post account with your organization email address:

- Sign in to your account with your associated email address.

The screenshot shows the Washington Post sign-in page. At the top is the logo "The Washington Post". Below it is the heading "Sign in". There is a text input field with an envelope icon and the placeholder text "Email address". Below the input field is a blue button labeled "Next". At the bottom of the form is a white button with a rounded border labeled "Email a sign in link".

- Check to ensure your email address has been verified.
 - Select Your Name at the top right to access the menu.
 - Navigate to Account Settings.
 - Select Verify to send the verification email.
 - There will be no prompt if your email is already verified.

DOMAIN AUTHENTICATION ACTIVATION

- Check your associated email for the verification link. Clicking on the link activates your subscription.

- If your email address has already been verified, navigate to Subscription & Billing to Activate free digital access.

